NUMBER 1.

We Mourn the Loss of Profits.

GREAT FIFTY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR

SALE OF CLOTHING

We are going to make some improvements in our store room after January 1st. The contract is signed and sealed with the contractors—consequently we are compelled to sell our stock or pack it away. We prefer selling it at a sacrifice.

NOTHING RESERVED.

Every suit of Clothes, every Overcoat, every Pair of Pants marked in plain figures. We will just split them in half. This means 50 cents on the dollar. The cheapest sale of fine ready made Clothing in Kentucky.

Our business is not conducted by fakes and guessing schemes. The man that's selling watch chains on the street corner for $1, throwing in a watch just to show his generosity, needs watching. "Bunco Stealers," "Razzle Dazzle" tricksters and green goods sharps always promise great returns from small investments. Intelligent minds are on to the racket, and take no stock in such humbuggery. 'Tis value they want.

100 CENTS WORTH OF GOODS

FOR 100 CENTS IN CASH.

Is what we give the people. But at this sale

100 CENTS WORTH AT 50 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR!

Every article in our establishment is ticketed at the lowest price possible. The stamp of durability is on every garment.

If you have not dealt with us, ask your neighbor, who has. We invite you to our store, feeling assured that you will be pleased with our garments and satisfied with the matchless values we offer.

"Seeing is Believing."
And a good lamp must be simple; when it is not simple it is not good. Simple, Beautiful, Good—these words mean much, but to see "The Rochester" will impress the truth more forcibly. All metal, tough and seamless, and made in three pieces only, it is absolutely safe and unbreakable. Like Aladdin's of old, it is indeed a "wonderful lamp," for its marvelous light is purer and brighter than gas light, softer than electric light and more cheerful than either.

Look for this lamp—THE ROCHESTER. If the lamp dealer has not the genuine Rochester, and the style you want, send to us for our new illustrated catalogue, and we will send you a lamp safely by express—your choice of over 2,000 varieties from the Largest Lamp Store in the World.

TO THE VOTERS

Of the Tenth Congressional District.

The sudden striking down at his post of duty of the lamented Mr. Kendall will render it necessary for the Democrats of this Congressional District to hold, at a very early day, a convention to nominate a candidate at the special election to fill the vacancy. It is not yet known when nor where this convention will be held, but the time will necessarily be short, and it will be impossible for any candidate to see all the people. I take this method of announcing my candidacy to you. Clark county has always been content to render her valiant service to whomsoever her sister counties might put forward for this great office. Only once has she had an aspirant, and he did not succeed to the nomination. Her people feel that after all these years of fidelity to the chosen sons of other counties they have some claims which the Democracy of the district will recognize.

Situated as we are at the very gateway to all the district, there is not one county in all the sisterhood, in the development of which we are not deeply and vitally interested, and I promise, if elected to this great position, that I will waste no opportunity which offers to develop and build up this magnificent domain of counties.

The great work so ably, faithfully and industriously undertaken by the dead Congressman ought to fall into hands that will earnestly carry it forward to its legitimate completion. The beautiful symmetry of his work ought to be preserved to the end. No local prejudices ought to be allowed to mar any of the undertakings which he had put forward in behalf of any person or community. I promise that if elected I will earnestly labor to finish his work—not spoil it.

As to my Democracy and faithfulness to my party I refer you to the people of my own county who have honored me with the most important county office in their gift by probably the largest majority ever given in the county. I have stood in the midst of every political fray since I became a voter, and have unfalteringly offered battle to every enemy of Democracy and the people. I have never failed to heed the cry of Democratic distress, whether it came from my own people or from those doing desperate battle with the enemy elsewhere.

If elected I will serve the people faithfully, honestly and industriously. I will give them all my time, and the appeal of the humblest dweller in all this district will not go unheeded.

M. C. LISLE.

Lexington Ladies Complimented.

Miss Daisy Fitzhugh, of Lexington, who will read the annual poem before the State Press Association in May, is one of the famous Kentucky women who came off victorious in the Lexington School Journal contest. Miss Fitzhugh is a Virginian by birth, and a member of one of the most distinguished families in the State. The first poem written by her was highly praised by Robert Burns Wilson, who said it was simply one of the most perfect lyrics he had ever read. Miss Nannie Fitzhugh, a sister of Miss Daisy, is also a brilliant woman, and both of these bright women are immensely popular in Lexington.—Louisville Times.

Killed by the Cars.

A horrible accident occurred near the depot Saturday, says the Winchester Democrat. George Cress, a brakeman on the Kentucky Central local freight train was uncoupling cars while the train was in motion, when his foot became hung in the guard rail and he fell across the track. Three cars passed over his head, crushing it out of all semblance to humanity. Coroner Alexander held an inquest, and the jury rendered a verdict in accordance with these facts. The remains were taken to Livingston where the unfortunate man lived. He leaves a wife and two children, one five and the other two years old.

Roger Q. Mills, of Texas, for the Senate.

The Mills members of the Texas Legislature have held a caucus. A resolution was adopted that obedience to one's constituency was a cardinal principle of the Democracy. The rolls of the Senate and House were called, and the standing of each member was carefully noted. None were put in the Mills column that were not known to be certainly for him. The first result of the count was: Mills, 16 in the Senate and 55 in the House—total, 71, with a probability of many doubtfuls voting for him. This will certainly elect Mills on the first ballot. Total for Chilton in both Houses, 29, and for Culberson, 25.

The R., N., I. & B. R. R.

In the case of the Central Trust Company, of New York vs the R., N., I. & B. Railroad Company, Judge Barr, of Louisville, has issued an order to the Receiver of the road to make a survey and estimate the cost of completing the road from its present terminal at Irvine to Beattyville—the cost of the survey not to exceed $500. The completion of the road will be of considerable benefit to Louisville, as it will open up the trade of that section of the country.

STATE PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting to Be Held at Lexington May 10 and 11—Programme Arranged.

The Executive Committee of the State Press Association met at Frankfort on the 15th inst., arranged the time of meeting and agreed upon a programme. The committee met at the office of the Capital, with Chairman E. Polk Johnson, Col. John O. Hodges, President of the Lexington Press Club, came down to advise the members as to the time when it would be most convenient for the citizens of Lexington to receive the Association. The Bluegrass capital had asked last summer that the Association meet there this year, and the invitation had been accepted.

Col. Hodges announced that May 10, 11 and 12 had been agreed upon. The Association has been meeting heretofore in June, but the committee accepted the changed date with pleasure. It was thought, however, that all the business of the Association could be finished in two days, even with the liberal entertainment proposed by the hospitable citizens of Lexington, and the meeting will be held on May 10 and 11.

The Association will assemble at noon in the Lexington Opera-house. Mayor J. Hull Davidson will make the welcome address. President Sommers will respond. Business concluded, the guests, or such as care to go, will be taken to the race track. In the evening the Mayor's ball will take place at the Phoenix Hotel. Maj. McDowell will entertain them with luncheon at Ashland next day, and in the evening the annual banquet will be given at the Phoenix Hotel.

The literary programme was arranged with a view to having the papers of a practically suggestive as well as entertaining nature. The members assigned to prepare these papers and the subjects chosen are as follows:

Miss Lila Bell, Georgetown Times—Subject to be chosen by herself.

R. W. Brown, Louisville Times—"Beginning in Journalism."

Frank Bell, Hopkinsville New Era—"The Country Correspondent."

G. R. Washburne, Wine and Spirit Review—"Advertising Agencies."

J. R. Marrs, Kentucky Homestead—"The Make-up of a Paper, Mechanical and Otherwise."

J. M. Richardson, Glasgow Times—"The Exchange Fund."

Joseph Alshuler, Courier-Journal—"What the City Daily Wants from its Country Correspondents."

Urey Woodson—Owensboro Messenger—"Management of a Daily in a Small City."

In addition to these, the annual oration will be delivered by Mr. A. Y. Ford, and the annual poem will be read by Miss Daisy Fitzhugh, of the Lexington Leader.

What His Home Paper Says.

Reports from the various counties of the district indicate that the prospects for the nomination of Judge M. C. Lisle as the Democratic standard-bearer for Congress are very flattering indeed. If the people of the district were as familiar with him as the people of his own county, there would be no question as to the result. Probably no young man who ever lived here has more or devoted friends than Judge Lisle. This was attested by the immense majority by which he defeated one of the most popular and well known men in the county for the highest office in the county. He has the happy faculty of making friends wherever he goes, and would surely be successful in obtaining for the people of his district proper consideration at the National Capital. He is thoroughly capable of holding his own in any company, and would make a Congressman of which his constituents would feel proud. Courteous and pleasant to all, he would be accessible to the poorest man in his district, and would take pride in attending to the wants of his people. If nominated Clark county will give him the biggest majority ever given a Congressional candidate.—Winchester Democrat.

Turned Loose To "Do" Another Man.

Sam O. Brewer, the distinguished looking gentleman who stole George Richter's diamonds some months ago, and who has been languishing in jail ever since, was released Saturday, his family having sent the balance necessary to make up his $500 bail. That night he joined the Christian church, and without waiting for baptism, shook the dust of Winchester off his feet and left on the K. U. train the next morning never more to return. From all accounts his family are composed of very estimable people, but he seems to be a consummate scoundrel.—Winchester Democrat.

Nipped in the Bud.

Jailer Nixon, with the assistance of Town Marshal Harris, searched the cell of Austin Jones, the condemned negro murderer, one day last week, and found a large, sharp butcher knife concealed in his bed. Three fair-sized brickbats, also, were found in the cell. It is not known how these articles were procured by Jones, but it is lucky for the jailer that they were found, else the community would have been startled some time with the intelligence that Jones had escaped, with more crimes to his credit.—Owingsville Outlook.

Joseph M. Kendall.

The fiat of the people has gone forth, and Joe M. Kendall will be the successor of his father in Congress. The tide of popular favor in which he stands gathers strength as it rolls over the district, and from the "Roughs" of Tug Fork to Boone's Creek, which leaves its purifying waters against the western border of the county so rich in Congressional possibilities and so devilish poor in Congressional probabilities, the invincibility of you, Kendall is conceded by all, and in every other county the shouts of the "unterrified" wakes the sleeping echoes of his name and dale in his behalf, while Eternal Justice smiles in hearty approval.

No man has, or can, assign any just reason why he should not be nominated and elected; but there are many reasons why the Democrats of this District should give him no opposition. He has sufficient age, ability, education, experience, honesty and true manhood to bring to that vacant seat in Congress all those admirable and necessary qualities possessed by his honored father, and certainly he would be the most acceptable man to Mr. Kendall's colleagues. In point of education, Joe M. Kendall is far in advance of the average young man of Kentucky, and he is a lawyer of considerable ability, and being a graduate of the Law Department of Ann Arbor, Mich., he was granted license before he was 21 years old by a special act of the Legislature. He will be 32 years old next May, and doubtless his practice and experience in law and politics have been much greater than those of any man of his age in the district.

Having been in the employment of the government at Washington during Mr. Taulbee's service there, he is well acquainted with all the departments of government, and understands something of the workings of National legislation. He ably assisted his father during his brief career, and knows where and how to take hold to finish up the work begun. He is an orator born, and has distinguished himself on several occasions on the stump and rostrum. Joe Kendall is the man the Democrats (and many Republicans who know him well) want. He is the man who should succeed the Hon. J. W. Kendall, and he is the man that will do it.—Sentinel-Democrat.

Hon. Marcus Lisle.

If the filling of the vacancy in Congress from the Tenth Kentucky District should be left to the Legislators, officials and others here, it appears that it would be decided in short order by the selection of a seemingly very popular young Winchester Judge and citizen. He is the Hon. Marcus Lisle, at present County Judge of Clark, and an all-around, able young statesman and clever gentleman. Lisle is more talked about here as the next Congressman from the Tenth than any man I have heard mentioned, and his friends say that he will be a candidate—and without a slip—a winner. It is believed that both his fellow-townsmen, Haggard, and Brooks, of Mt. Sterling, will stand aside if Lisle decides to run.—Frankfort correspondent Louisville Times.

The World Grows.

Noah Webster would not know his old dictionary in the perfection it has attained in the hands of modern scholars. The world grows, however, and dictionaries with it, so that a cheap reprint of the 45 years old "original" Webster is worth about as much as an old almanac. Webster's International Dictionary, the recent successor of the latest and still copyrighted "Unabridged," is the best work of its kind ever published, and well used in a family, will be of more value to the members thereof than many times its cost laid up in money.
